

COUNCIL MEETS REGULAR SESSION

REFUSE TO REMIT APEX
TAXES—TIME RESOLUTION
LOST—VOTE LOAN -2,000—
OTHER MATTERS.

At the council meeting Monday night the Apex Motor corporation asked to have their taxes remitted. The request was refused. It was pointed out that if the council remitted in one case then all of the other companies had a right to make similar request.

Alderman Worden wanted to have the city go back to Central time this month and back again to Eastern time next spring, but no action was taken.

The council ordered the installing of a suitable watering trough at the point on Upper Ellis street to take the place of the one now in use there. A petition was received at the last meeting from residents of that locality asking that the old trough be removed or rebuilt on the grounds that it was unsightly. Manager Older estimated the cost to be around $214, which would include the building of the trough and also a drinking fountain.

Several matters pertaining to sewers and walks were taken up and disposed of. The question of a free bed at the Beyer hospital will be taken up at the next meeting. Attorney Kirk was authorized to notify tenants in the apartment on River street that they must stop the throwing of rubbish between the walls and the tracks. A new loan of $2,000 was authorized at the Savings bank. Council adjourned to meet the first Monday in November in regular session.

Russo fled to Toledo, where he was picked up by Toledo officers on suspicion when they saw blood on his clothes and had his hands cut. He immediately confessed his crime and Plymouth officers were notified.

Nothing was known of the crime in Plymouth until notified by the Toledo officers. Plymouth officers went to Toledo to bring back the prisoner, but found that his injuries were so serious that he could not be removed.

The men had roomed together for about seven months and appeared to be very friendly. Russo is about 25 years of age and Perrene 35.

LIFE SENTENCE FOR MOCERI AND SPINO

Friday afternoon Tony Spino was sentenced to spend the remainder of his life in Jackson prison for the murder of George Burg and John Fulmer, Saline farmers, on the forenoon of July 15 last. Spino is the second one of a gang of six gunmen who came out from Detroit to rob the Burg farm. When Spino heard the foreman of the jury, J. Davidster, pronounce the words that meant life in prison for him not a sign of emotion crossed his face, nor did he show any evidence of concern when Judge Sample gave him his sentence. The only words he uttered was when he was being led away by an officer, when he said "Thank you."

Sam Moceri, the first of the murderers to be convicted, and sentenced to Marquette for life, was one of the witnesses, but refused to testify when called to the stand and would not answer questions put to him and he was taken back to jail. During his own trial he remained mute.

Peter Orlando, whose testimony did more to convict Moceri than all the other witnesses brought into the case, was a witness against Spino, and told practically the same story he did in the trial of Moceri. In the courtroom was his wife and four small children. His little two-year-old baby broke away from its mother, and going to its father held up its little face for a kiss. Orlando broke down and wept. Another one of the children went to its father with a handkerchief, which he took and wiped away his tears. The scene affected the whole courtroom.

Other witnesses on the stand were Harry Smith, George Cook, Miss Luetta Burg, Lieut. Burt MacPherson, Sgt. John Dahmke, Frank Trombley, E. C. Goodrich, Sheriff A. C. Pack, Dr. Charles Woodbridge and Deputy Sheriff Dick Elliott. All testified practically to the same story as in the Moceri trial.

Throughout both trials Orlando told the same story of how he was forced to accompany the men to Saline; that Spino in company with three others went into the barn and soon after he heard shots; told of the trip back to Detroit and how he went to his home and went to bed scared so that he did not tell his wife and family; told how his life wouldn't have been worth living if he told the officers of the crime before his arrest.

The trial of Peter Orlando was put over to the December term of court. Thomas Chawke, attorney for Orlando, asked that the case be put over as he said he was trying to locate a material witness, and also asked for more time to investigate the testimony which was given in the trials of Moceri and Spino.

When Orlando heard the decision of the court his face beamed in smiles. After kissing his children he was taken back to the county jail to await his trial in December.

There are three men still at large concerned in this murder and should any one of them be captured before the next term of court Orlando would be an important witness for the state.

Monday morning Prosecutor Fahrner announced to the court that he was ready to proceed with the trial of Charles Taylor, the Ypsilanti man charged with shooting his daughter.

Deubel sang "When You and I Were Young, Maggie." Mrs. J. Marks gave a reading. Refreshments were served. Mr. Mereness came to Michigan March 2, 1866, and has been a resident of this city with the exception of a little over a year that he was in the government employ at the Sioux reservation in Dakota. He served four years, lacking four days, in the Civil war, and was not old enough to vote until the second year after his return. He was in some of the largest battles and holds a medal of honor given him by the state of New York for the battle of Gettysburg. Mr. Mereness is a carpenter by trade and was an apprentice of Edwards & Cooper, at that time the leading builders of Ypsilanti. His wages were $1.50 per week with board. How well he learned his trade some of the finest built houses in the city will be the answer. In 1884 he joined the G. A. R. and has been a tireless worker in that organization. He has held the offices of commander and quartermaster.

Mrs. Mereness was born in Augusta township and has lived in Ypsilanti nearly all her life. She received her education in the Normal school and holds one of the first limited certificates. D. P. Mayhew was principal. She taught several years in Livingston county and the last two years before her marriage taught in the Saline high school. ## Machine Measures Golf Drive.

Golf enthusiasts bent upon developing an ability to make long drives can measure their progress by means of a machine which has been invented to record accurately the length of drives. The machine consists of a steel pole on the top of which is a dial to the mechanism of which is attached a cord. The golf ball is attached to the end of this cord. When the player strikes the ball the force of the drive is recorded on the dial and the length of the drive, had the ball not been held by the cord, can be determined.—Pittsburgh Dispatch

Charmingly diverse is the new showing of Printzess Coats

One of the features of the coats by Printz now being shown is the delightful diversity of styles.

So many the purposes, so various the types for which they are designed, it seems nothing is needed to make the selection perfectly complete for women, misses and girls.

There are wrap-coat models and blouse models, fashioned of deep-piled, lustrous fabrics, richly embroidered and finished with soft fur. There are plain tailored coats for practical purposes in which simplicity is the dominant note. There are coats for general use, resourcefully combining the practical and fashionable.

But in all, the same beauty of silhouette prevails; the same quality of Printzess workmanship and attention to detail. In all you will find the distinction and exclusiveness that characterizes a Printz model.

You will be surprised to find that Printzess coats and suits are moderately priced, no higher than many garments of questionable value and infinitely more desirable.

Coal From Spitzbergen.
A few months ago the first Holland contingent of engineers and coal miners embarked for Spitzbergen to work the extensive coal properties recently acquired by a group of well-known Holland commercial men. The first cargo of Spitzbergen coal arrived at Rotterdam, August 11, direct from the mines of the Netherlands-Spitzbergen company. Notwithstanding the high freight rates, it has been shown that Spitzbergen coal can be laid down in Holland at a price lower than that paid for English or German coal. Easy access to the coal beds and economical working of the mines make these cheaper deliveries to Holland possible. Enormous amounts of coal are available.

USE HATCHET ON SICK FOWLS

No Economy in Spending Valuable Time in Attempting to Cure Ordinary Chicken.

Once disease gets into the flock, or a single bird is badly affected, the free use of the hatchet usually is the most practical method of wiping it out, as it does not pay to spend two dollars' worth of time in trying to cure an ordinary bird, say poultry specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. Slight troubles, however, often can be cured with little work or expense. In nearly every case it is better to remove the well birds and put them by themselves. In case of infectious disease the premises should be disinfected thoroughly.

HINTS ON SELECTING FOWLS

Fast Growing Pullet That Begins to Lay Early is an Indication of Health and Vigor.

Some pullets have inherent qualities that make them better than others. They mature earlier, are fuller in body and begin to lay before others of the same age. These are the points to be observed in selecting stock for next year. If a pullet grows fast and begins to lay early it is an indication of health, vigor and hardiness.

FACTORS FAVORING STORAGE

It is of Great Importance to Prevent Rot and Decay—Guard Against Frost.

The factors favoring successful storage are those which prevent rot, decay, and drying out. Temperature should be low enough to prevent decay and sufficiently high to protect from frost. For most vegetables this is from 34 to 38 degrees.

JURY FINDS TAYLOR GUILTY OF ASSAULT

Charles Taylor was convicted in circuit court Tuesday afternoon on the charge of assault and battery. He was arrested on Sept. 18 on the charge of assault with intent to do great bodily harm, but the judge in instructing the jury told them that they could bring in a verdict of assault and battery or a verdict of not guilty. He testified that the shooting occurred during a scuffle with his son-in-law, Jackson, when his daughter grabbed his wrist and Taylor pulled the trigger of the revolver.

"If God and I decide to kill a person I am prepared to do it," Charles Taylor, of Ypsilanti, testified upon cross examination in circuit court Tuesday. "A man should be justified in shooting whisky heads, anyway, is my opinion," continued Taylor.

In regard to John Perry, one of the witnesses who testified yesterday afternoon that Taylor had threatened to take his life, Taylor on cross examination Tuesday said, "I'll admit that I told Perry if he beat me out of $50 on a land deal the undertaker would take care of him. Perry deserved to be killed and I wouldn't think any more of doing it than I would of killing a fly. Perry can't get along with anyone, not even his wife."

In reply to a question asked by Jacob Fahrner, prosecuting attorney, Taylor said, "I am a dangerous man right now if anyone tries to put over any dirty deals on me."

HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT.

Frank Arnet, of Detroit, and brother of the Arnet boys of this city, was injured in an automobile accident Saturday in Ann Arbor while on his way to Chelsea, where he and a companion were bound for a week-end hunting trip. Parties in another auto ran into them, smashing their machine and in the crash Mr. Arnet was so badly bruised and cut that he was taken to St. Joseph's hospital. His companion escaped without injury.

SELECTING SEED
CORN IN FIELDS

Farmer Has Splendid Opportunity to Start Increasing Next Year's Yield.

CURE AND STORE EARS WELL

Hatrack Device is Easily Made by Cutting an Electrically Welded
Wire-Mesh Fence—Avoid Damp Atmosphere.

Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.

It costs as much to plant and cultivate an acre producing 20 bushels of corn as one producing 40 bushels.
So, with present labor costs, if a farmer could reduce his acreage one-half and still get the same corn yield he would consider it good business.

Such a program is probably too much to expect, but the United States Department of Agriculture points out that the American farmer is getting altogether too little yield from his corn land. Just about this time of year a good many farmers are realizing it.

Prepare for Next Year's Crop.
Now, or a little later, American farmers have an opportunity to start increasing next year's corn crop by the selection of seed. Every spring there is a frantic search for good seed corn, and much inferior seed is planted, with resulting inferior yields.
The loss is largely due to delay or negligence. Autumn is the time to prepare for a profitable corn crop the following season.

Any intelligent farmer can go into his corn field when the corn is mature and select better seed than he can buy next spring. Unless a community has an experienced and honest corn breeder, the best place for the farmer to obtain seed corn is from the fields
on his farm or in his neighborhood, which are planted with a variety that has generally proved successful in that particular locality. Too many people consider seed good simply because it will grow. To be first class, seed corn must be:

1. Well adapted to the climatic and soil conditions where it is to be planted.
2. Of a high-yielding variety and from high-yielding stalks of that variety.
3. Well matured and preserved from ripening time until planting time in a manner that will retain its full vitality.
4. Free from disease and insect injury. Such freedom may indicate resistance to infection.

As soon as the crop matures, go through the field with a picking bag and select ears from the stalks that have produced the most good corn without having had any special advantages such as excess of space, moisture, or fertility. Avoid the large

Go Through Field With a Bag and Select Ears From Desirable Stalks.

ears on stalks standing singly with an unusual amount of space around them.
Preference should be given the plants that have produced most heavily in competition with a full stand of vigorous plants. A well-balanced stalk bearing two good ears will usually be found to have produced as much seed as any other stalk. Both ears are equally valuable for seed, even though one may be much smaller than the other.

In the central and southern states,
all other things being equal, short thick stalks are preferable. They are not so easily blown down, and in general are more productive than slender ones.

Keep Seed Corn Dry Over Winter.

Since the corn root rot investigations by the United States Department of Agriculture, increasing attention has been paid to germination tests for corn. The improved rag doll germin-ator and methods for using it, as well as methods of selecting disease free ears in the field, are described in Farmers' Bulletin 1176, which will be sent, on application to the Department of Agriculture. The question of better seed corn is one which means so much in dollars and cents that attention should be given it from now on until the seed is ready to go into the ground
next spring.

WILL KILL INSECTSVarious Kinds of Seeds Subject to Injury by Bugs.Pests May Be Destroyed by Fumigation With Carbon Disulphid—Liquid May Be Placed in Any Shallow Receptacle.Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Many seeds, especially beans, corn, and lettuce, are subject to injury by a number of insects, all of which may be destroyed by fumigation with carbon disulphid, say experts of the United States Department of Agriculture. Carbon disulphid is a liquid that can be purchased in tin cans at any drug store. When poured into a dish it evaporates rapidly, producing a foul-smelling gas that is heavier than air. Therefore, in fumigating seeds, to kill insects attacking them it is necessary to place the carbon disulphid on top of the seeds in order that the gas may sink into them and reach every part of the container. A tight tin pail, box, or barrel makes an excellent container for fumigating seeds. For a tight barrel full of seeds one-half cupful of carbon disulphid is sufficient. For smaller containers, use in proportion.

Seeds to be fumigated must be dry, and if they are in paper bags, the bags should be opened. The gas penetrates cloth bags easily. The liquid may be placed in any shallow dish, such as a saucer or plate, or merely poured on the seeds. The liquid will not injure the seeds if poured directly upon them. Immediately after starting the fumigation, the container should be covered with several thicknesses of heavy paper, or other tight cover, and allowed to remain covered from one to two days.

HALLOWEEN GOOD THINGS.

THE mother with a flock of youngsters will be very popular with them if they are served with the following:

Butterscotch.

Take three cupfuls of brown sugar, three-fourths of a cupful of water, two tablespoonfuls of butter, one-eighth of a teaspoonful of soda, a teaspoonful of flavoring and a few grains of salt. Boil all together except the flavoring until a thread is formed when dropped from a spoon. Pour off into buttered pans, let stand until cool enough to mark off into squares.

Molasses Candy.

Boil together until brittle in water, two cupfuls of molasses, two tablespoonfuls of butter, two cupfuls of brown sugar, one cupful of water and one-third of a cupful of vinegar. Pour into greased pans and pull when cool enough. Cut with a pair of shears into lengths, wrap in a waxed paper.

Pralines.

Boil together one and seven-eighths cupfuls of powdered sugar, one cupful of maple sirup and one-half cupful of cream until a soft ball is made, when tried in cold water. Remove from the fire and beat until of a creamy consistency. Add two cupfuls of hickory nut meats or pecans and drop on waxed paper in small cakes.

Chocolate Fudge.

Take two cupfuls of sugar, two tablespoonfuls of butter, one-third of a cupful of sirup, one-half cupful of milk and cook with a square or two of grated chocolate until it makes a soft ball when dropped in cold water. Cool slightly before stirring, then stir until thick. Put into a well buttered pan and mark off in squares. Nuts may be added, if liked and a teaspoonful of any desired flavoring.

Bread Omelet.

Boil one-half cupful of milk, add one cupful of bread crumbs and a tablespoonful of butter. Add salt and pepper to taste, then the yolks of three eggs well beaten. Stir in slowly the stiffly beaten whites and brown in a hot, well-buttered frying pan.

Chocolate Caramel.

Put two tablespoonfuls of butter into a saucepan, add one-half cupful each of milk and sugar and one cupful of molasses. When boiling hot add four squares of chocolate and cook until brittle, when a bit is dropped in cold water. Remove from the heat.

HOW TO SET A TABLE.

Slight not what's near through aiming at what's far.—Euripides.

IS THERE anything more unappetizing than a carelessly set table? All of us, presumably, should have a soul so far above buttons that we would not notice our food overmuch. But few of us have reached the happy state where we eat only to be nourished. Most of us are quite susceptible to dainty food and dainty service. This being so, the economical housewife should appreciate the value of serving every meal daintily. For food that is enjoyed will be better assimilated and therefore will do its full duty of giving nourishment to those who eat it.

A nicely set table is the first requisite for the dainty service of a meal.

Spotlessness and neatness are essential to a nicely set table. No matter how simple the meal or how simple the table appointments, they should and can always be clean and neatly arranged.

At breakfast and luncheon doilies or runners can be used. If some houses runners are used even at dinner. If they are used—or if doilies are used—the table must be perfectly clean.

When a cloth is used first spread a felt or asbestos covering to protect the table and hush the sound of plates and silver. Then spread a cloth with the fold that marks the middle of it laid evenly from end to end of the table. Always fold the cloth in the same creases, and lay it neatly in a drawer until it is wanted again. Or else fold it only once lengthwise and then roll it on a wooden or pasteboard cylinder.

After the cloth is neatly laid, put on the silver. At the right of each place put the knives and spoons and at the left put the forks. At the end of the knives place a glass for water and at the end of the forks place a butter plate.

For an informal home dinner there should be a large knife next to the plate on the right for cutting meat, next to that a spoon for dessert and next to that a soup spoon. On the left there should be as many forks as will be needed—one for the meat, one for the salad and one for the dessert, or, if none is needed for dessert and there is no salad, only one fork should be placed. If oysters are served to begin with the oyster fork is placed at the right of the soup spoon. The butter spreader, unless it is large, is placed on the butter plate; if the spreader is large, it is placed next, on the right, to the knife for meat.

A centerpiece of some sort should be placed in the center of the table. Growing ferns or cut flowers can be used, or a little bowl full of evergreen leaves or foliage. A dish of fresh and beautiful fruit can also be used.

The napkin should either be placed at the right of the silver or else it should be folded and placed on the plate in front of each person. Of course, when clean napkins are not used every meal and the napkins are kept in rings, they should be placed at the right, or else in front of the plate, between the water-glass and the butter plate.

LYRICS OF LIFE

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

WHY NOT TELL HER SO?
O F COURSE you love her just the same
As when at first you wed,
Perhaps with not so hot a flame,
But still the coals are red.
The new-made blaze is bright with heat
And ruddy with desire;
But time shall give you something sweet—
Peace, and the quiet fire.

Of course you love her as of old,
Your love she ought to know.
New loves burn hot, new loves turn cold,
With all the winds that blow.
But time shall bring the steady blaze,
The flame that never died;
Yea, time shall bring contented days,
The quiet ingleside.

Of course you love her as of yore—
The years that you have shared
Have made you love her even more
Than ever you have cared.
Of course you love her just the same,
Your love she ought to know,
For time has brought the steady flame—
But why not tell her so?

Why not Save your DOLLARS
? ? ? ?

Don't throw away those old SHOES

Buy Your Coal Now

Stocks of coal in dealers' yards are very small, especially hard coal, and we advise everyone to purchase coal to take care of their needs until after January 1st, when conditions will be more settled.

Ypsilanti coal dealers are sure to have trouble to take care of the public if the railroad strike is put over, as so little coal has been taken this summer.

We can furnish for prompt delivery only the best Scranton Hard Coal as follows:

	Per Ton
Egg, Stove and Chestnut Size	$15.00
Scranton Pea Size (Clean)	13.00
Pocahontas Egg	11.00
West Virginia White Ash Lump	9.00

Better make sure and order a load of coal and shake hands with yourself when the wise man that says that coal is going to be cheaper finds that he is out of luck, which is sure to happen if the railroad strike takes place.

MOTOR LIBRARY HELPS FARMERS

KEEN APPETITE FOR BOOKS CREATED BY NOVEL PLAN OF DISTRIBUTION

"Parnassus on Wheels" Seems Destined to Become Big American Institution.

Not so many years ago you heard the argument that the automobile was destined to monopolize people's time, that they would have no leisure hours for reading and that the nation would degenerate below its present standard of culture.

Since then, of course, it has been proved pretty definitely that exactly the reverse is true. The automobile saves such an enormous amount of time that people have more opportunity than ever to read. There is no danger that the motor car and culture will ever conflict.

As a matter of fact, there are a number of librarians in the country today who will tell you that the automobile is helping them introduce traces of culture into communities that would otherwise fail to develop an appetite for books for years to come. These librarians are taking their books to the farms—by automobile. They are introducing the motorized library, and the success which has attended their efforts indicates that it is one of the certain American institutions of the future.

Particular success with the motorized library is found in the case of Noblesville, Ind., a city of about 5,000, situated about 20 miles north of Indianapolis. In an exceedingly interesting article describing the methods and results employed in delivering the library to the farmer's door, Miss Lula M. Miesse, Noblesville's librarian, says:

"We tried both adult and juvenile stations in schoolhouses and homes and found the adult section was not well patronized. The country schools are open only five days a week and only six months a year. So the house to house plan of service was determined upon. We visited some other cities, where library autos were in use, and after looking over various chassis and trucks we decided upon a Dodge Brothers business car. In the first place it did not need a great deal of remodeling for our purpose. It was strongly built and highly recommended by people who were using it, for durability under hard service, which we knew our car must receive.

The seats were already comfortable. We had the wire screens and the entire back removed. The steel sides were bent over seven inches and used for shelves in front of the book cases. Inside the car we built our book cases of oak, with glass doors opening outward on both sides of the truck, so that it advertised its own wares as it travels over the country. The shelves slant slightly back to hold the books away from the glass.

"Our territory is now laid in 16 runs, but we must add at least five to these in order to cover it. Some of our trips are long. Number one, for instance, is 42 miles long and begins and ends 10 miles from Noblesville. We have driven our car through fresh gravel, mud and over ice. As we travel four days a week we cannot wait for good roads. The work is very interesting and grows more so as the librarians and the people get better acquainted. The demand for books has been so great that it has been almost impossible to satisfy both the city and the country, as we were not expecting and not well enough prepared for the voracious appetite for reading matter which we created.

"Our library car is called 'Parnassus' after Christopher Morley's book, 'Parnassus on Wheels.' It is a very interesting little book, about book peddling. We use an old fashioned dinner bell to call our patrons, this being more effective than the horn. One side of the car is used for adult and the other for children's books. We carry about 300 books on the shelves and extra fiction is in greatest demand, but we also circulate books on farming, travel, history, literature, music and Bible literature. We carry fairy stories and bear stories for the younger children and have introduced many youthful readers to little Women, Tom Sawyer and Pinocchio. One great advantage of our system to the rural patrons is that there are no fines attached to books charged on the library auto cards.

"The people in the country think we made a good choice of a car, as it is a good car, but not the most expensive. They make many comments on the car, especially since we have met the men in the homes. The Indiana Library commission is trying to push the country library idea as are many other states. It is much use in the community. The trial library, where decent salaries are paid, than so many small libraries, barely alive, and of not much use in the community. The Indiana librarians are very much interested in our work.

"Our car now regularly visits about 800 homes and has about 1,500 patrons, the circulation running from 100 to 150 per run. We will give more service when the remainder of our territory is organized. It is the most interesting library work we have ever done and we hope all of Indiana may have similar service in the near future."

BRINGS BACK ACTION OF BRAIN

Remarkable Power of Smelling Salts
When the Seat of Reason Is Violently Affected.

When Carpentier sent that one terrific blow against Dempsey's chin in the second round of their battle for the championship, and Dempsey staggered, dazed by its force, one of his seconds applied a bottle of smelling salts to his nose.

When a woman faints, smelling salts are placed beneath her nose, and she revives.

The reviving effect of smelling salts is due to the ammonia they contain. Aromatic spirits of ammonia have the same effect. Ammonia is a very powerful stimulant to both the lungs and the heart. In full strength, the fumes of ammonia are intensely irritating to the lungs and throat, as any fireman who has helped to put out a burning factory in which ammonia was stored can testify. In a very weak solution it irritates only sufficiently to stimulate. When inhaled, the gas affects the nerves ending in the nose, throat and lungs; so quickly do these carry the news to the brain and so instantaneous is the response by way of the pneumogastric and other nerves that the lungs expand to draw in air and the heart at once pumps more rapidly—Buffalo Express.

Dog Biscuit for Breakfast.

Judge Jean H. Norris tells the funniest true story of domestic difficulties. Here it is:

In the tragedy of misunderstandings, it is a relief to run across a case that is strictly humorous. Entertainment of this sort was furnished in one instance by a husband, arraigned for nonsupport, who declared that he had left home because he had been given dog biscuit for breakfast.

"That ain't no foundation for a hard day's work!" he complained. "I always have oatmeal porridge in the morning; but that precious pup was sick and wouldn't eat his regular fare. So the missus gives him my porridge, and then breaks up his biscuit and tries to pass it on to me. Wasn't that enough to make any man leave home?"

Asked if she liked the dog better than she did her husband, the woman burst into a pean of praise for her spouse.

"The dog's a delicate little thing and awfully fussy about his food," she explained. "I thought if the dog biscuits didn't hurt him they certainly wouldn't hurt a strong man like James."

The trouble ended in a complete reconciliation.—American Magazine.

Facts about your name: its history, meaning, whence it was derived; significance; your lucky day and lucky jewel.

DORIS.

THOUGH etymologists do not directly connect Doris with Dorothea, and some believe that she is merely a modern version of a feminine fancy for a name a trifle out of the ordinary, it is impossible to believe that her source was not identical with Dorothea and that strange but correct reversal Theodora.

Such being the case, Doris comes from one of the early Christian Greek names, notably Thekla. St. Thekla was said to have been a disciple of St. Paul and to have been exposed to lions at Antioch. Instead of tearing her to pieces, they crouched at her feet, but nevertheless she was considered the first virgin martyr, and no higher praise is possible for a woman than to compare her to St. Thekla.

From Thekla came the French Tecla and then through the Eastern church, Theodora, signifying "divine gift," and, much later, the incorrect Dorothea.

There have been two St. Theodoras, one a virgin martyr and the other a Greek empress.

Massinger composed a drama dealing with the story of St. Dorothea, the Cappadocian maiden who sent the roses of paradise by angelic hands as testimony of the joys of heaven. It is needless to go into the growth of Dorothea, followed by Dorothy, Dolly, Dora, and Dorinda. Her contractions, elaborations and diminutives are legion, but unfortunately history does not record what first enterprising mother named her baby Doris, though the name is almost as popular as Dorothy in England and America. Even Germany uses it. France alone finds it too harsh for her tongue and prefers the softer Dorette and Doralice.

The talismanic stone assigned to Doris is the agate, which gives her courage, guards her from danger and is also said to be a cure for insanity if worn as a pendant around the throat. Friday is Doris' lucky day and 5 her lucky number.

Average Intelligence Low.

On a basis of tests made on 1,500,000 soldiers, 500 school children, 500 delinquent boys and 250 feeble-minded individuals, a writer in the Journal of Applied Psychology states that the average mental age of adults is only thirteen years. This means that the average thirteen-year-old boy, though of course he does not know nearly so much as the average grown man, is his equal in intelligence.

BELIEF COST HIM HIS JOB

Reporter Was Discharged Because He Had Faith in Practicability of Edison's Electric Lamp.

"Did you ever hear of the New York newspaper reporter who lost his job, only a few years ago, because he wrote an article for his paper about Edison's demonstration of his first electric lamp? The publisher said he had no place on his paper for a darned fool who would believe you could spirit electricity through a wire that had no hole in it, and fired the reporter unceremoniously."

The speaker was a grizzled old electrical engineer, who has attained the age when he is inclined to look back on things as they were and to attempt to understand the forces that have brought about the marvelous changes he has witnessed within his lifetime. "You know," he continued, "as I look back upon the development of electrical engineering, it seems to me that advertising has had more to do with it than any other factor. Electrical companies are willing to go almost any length in the development of new conveniences because they have learned not only about electricity, but have also learned what is more important—how to tell the people about their products, through advertising."

"Suppose I have an idea for a new kind of electric lamp. I could afford to spend nearly any amount in perfecting it, because, within a few weeks after it is ready for the market I can, through advertising, get it on the shelves of thousands of merchants, and I can have millions of people asking for it by name."

MEANT TO HOLD PRISONERS

Chinese Policeman Was Taking Chances on His Charges Getting Away From Him.

"The late Willard Straight," said a Cornell professor, "often used to tell a story which typified, he said, China and the Chinese."

"Straight, in his official capacity in China, once had occasion to hand over to a Chinese policeman nine Chinese delinquents. This happened in a small, inland village, and Straight that night walked round to the policeman's quarters to see how his prisoners were getting along."

"He found them holding hands in a ring—or so, at least, it seemed—and dancing round a tall flag-staff, like children playing ring-around-a-rosy. Straight drew nearer, and saw that the men were not really holding hands, but were handcuffed wrist to wrist."

"The policeman then came out and stirred them up with a long pole, whereupon they danced a little faster. The policeman explained to Straight that there was no village jail, and so he had adopted this flagstaff method of detaining his prisoners."

"But why," said Straight, "do you keep them dancing all the time?"

"That," said the policeman, "is to prevent them from climbing up the flagstaff and escaping."

"Straight tried to explain that nine men, handcuffed together, could scarcely climb up a flagstaff simultaneously, but the policeman thought it was best to be on the safe side, and his nine prisoners danced their weary dance round the flagstaff all night long."

FOR SAFETY IN AIR TRAVEL

Elaborate Devices That Are Under Consideration by British Experts in Aviation.

Three new fog devices to overcome the drawbacks of mist and fogs to air-men are staged to be under discussion by British authorities. The first consists of the "laying along the route traversed by the airway of a powerfully charged electrical cable. This automatically sends up into the air a constant series of signals." By keeping his machine in such a position that the strength of the signals is kept constant the airman is assured that he is flying along the cable line. The second makes for safety in landing when the ground is not visible, and consists of a wire, with a weight attached, which is lowered from beneath the machine; when the weight touches the earth the airman learns that it is time to "flatten out" his machine. The third is called the "artificial horizon." It is "a gyroscopic instrument which shows an artificial horizon line always in front of the pilot and enables him to detect instantly when his machine is heeling over too much sideways in its relation to the real horizon, which is temporarily invisible. A tiny model airplane poised above the artificial horizon line mimics precisely the movements of his own machine."—Scientific American.

HAS MADE NEW PROFESSION

Philadelphia Woman Makes Excellent Living Arranging Details for Amateur Entertainments.

A pin-money career, for one Philadelphia woman, was the outcome of her refusal to drill some children for an Easter program. On previous occasions she had "thrusted upon her" the responsibility of planning and preparing various kinds of entertainments, home-talent plays, cantatas, etc., for different organizations. As this work required much time and strength, she was offered remuneration for her services and accepted the money. Now she has work ahead in that line all the year round. She assumes the responsibility of miscellaneous programs, plays, etc., for all ages, for Sunday schools, lodges, clubs, etc. She arranges time and place of practice, and assigns parts to each one in drills, plays, dialogues, cantatas, solo, duet, quartette, chorus, etc. Superintendents in the schools often call on her to help in such lines, and various organizations of the city. Much of the work, as the practicing, is done in her own home. She receives from 20 to 40 cents an hour. Free-will offerings, from a church organization have also been generous, as the manner of paying her.

"NEW-WOMAN" IDEA IN CHINA

Modern Agitators Work Along Lines That Would Rid Orient of "Clinging Vines."

About the only thing of modern times to which China has not laid claim as being so old in that country that it was outworn and discarded centuries ago, is the new woman with a magazine of her very own, published in the interest of her development. This publication, observes the Pittsburgh Dispatch, called the New Woman, boldly states as its object the reform of the old society to give a more honorable place to women, and the new woman is described as "a joyous being, of honest occupation, complete personality, free, independent and mutually helpful."

Yet the new woman of China comes in for some criticism, for among the things she is exhorted to cultivate are plain living and dressing, which, the writer goes on to say, was the rule in old China, but that now women wish to keep up with the styles and wear jewels. They are reminded that the chief thing about good dressing is to wear clean clothing. Another admonition to the new woman of China which might indicate she is prone to err, just like the new woman of any other land, is that she put far away from her the desire for empty glory of "face."

In other respects the things commended for the new woman seem to be along the same lines as in other lands—the cultivation of strength of will to go outside the home and mingle with others and take part in public affairs, and to discard the clinging-vine habit of looking to the men for everything.

FOR HOUSEKEEPERS TO TRY.

Lack of preparation, a hindrance in work of all kinds, is especially to be avoided when housecleaning must be done, and no person can bring about good results without proper brushes and accessories. A big bunch of clean rags, on some light handle with wad off the dust on the walls and ceilings, and for soiled spots on wall paper try rubbing with dry corn meal or stale bread, and when soot falls on a carpet from a carelessly handled stove pipe sprinkle thickly with corn meal, let stand a few minutes, then sweep up carefully with a brush. Iron rust on stoves which have not been in use during the summer can easily be removed by going over the parts with coarse sandpaper, afterwards covering the places with hot tallow or any warm grease. The next day wash with hot soap suds in which there is a liberal supply of kerosene, and this is a good way to clean grates and fenders. Dust all furniture and frames of chairs, first with a cloth wrung as dry as possible, out of clean water, then with a dry cloth, and lastly with a very soft cloth to put on the polish. An excellent soap to use in all housecleaning is made by dissolving a bar of soap shaved fine in a pint of boiling water and then stirring in a tablespoonful of powdered borax, and when wanted for use put enough of this dissolved soap in hot water to make a good suds. If late and mushy curtains are not very soiled they will come out clean and soft by washing through this suds, but if very soiled it is best to put them to soak over night in a light suds with a cup of coal oil added before washing them, and there is nothing better than this suds for washing white counterpanes, cotton blankets and all bed covers that need a thorough cleaning. Plain hot borax water is an excellent disinfectant and if used often for rinsing out spittoons, slop jars and drain pipes no other disinfectant will be needed, and as it is not a poison it is perfectly safe to use and have about the house. One of the best stove polishes is made by scraping fine one cake of any good stove polish into a wide mouthed bottle and then adding one pint of turpentine and three tablespoonfuls of graphite. Shake well and apply to the stove when merely warm with a brush and polish with flannel or a brush. Use with care, as turpentine ignites readily.

PAYS For Itself

Carpet-cleaning bills, the wages of the cleaning woman, laundry bills for draperies soiled by dust swished about by brooms, re-decorating bills due to the same cause, money paid for rugs to replace those worn out by embedded grit or ruined by moths, bills for tonics, medicines, etc., due to overwork—all these represent expenses that are largely ended by The Hoover.

Could you value your time, strength and health at nothing—could you class a clean, sanitary home the year 'round as valueless—even then The Hoover would repay its cost many times over, by the longer life it gives to your rugs.

Help your Moulters Moul

Moulting time is the time that a hen needs assistance. It is the off-season in the life of the hen.

Think of the amount of a hen's energy, vitality and red blood that's required to reproduce a thousand feathers! (which is only an average plumage).

A moulting hen needs good health, good appetite and digestion. That's just what Poultry Pan-a-ce-a does for a moulting hen—gives her appetite and good digestion, so that she'll eat more and digest more.

Dr. Hess Poultry PAN-A-CE-A

Helps your poultry through the moult. And starts your pullets and moulted hens to laying.

It contains Tonics that produce appetite and good digestion—Tonics that tone up the dormant egg organs—Iron that gives a moulting hen rich, red blood and a red comb. It contains Internal Antiseptics that destroy disease germs that may be lurking in the system.

No disease where Pan-a-ce-a is fed
Pan-a-ce-a helps your poultry to stay at par during the moult. They don't become run-down, pale and thin.

DUCKS FOOL MR. FOX.

MADAM DUCK was tired of swimming, so she scrambled up the bank to look for bugs in the field by the side of the river. She was waddling slowly about, when all at once she espied a pair of bright eyes peeping at her through the tall grass. Madam Duck knew at once it was Mr. Fox, and that he was waiting for a stray hen or anything that passed that way. She knew, too, that if she had happened to be near him she would now be on her way to his cave in the woods. "While there is life there is hope," she thought. "I will try to fool him."

Madam Duck began to limp. She spread her wings and let one drop, as though she had been wounded.

Of course Mr. Fox thought Madam Duck had not seen him, and when she limped he crawled slowly toward her.

"Some hunter has wounded that duck," he thought. "I will have to keep a sharp lookout that he does not see me, but I am thankful to him for helping me to get this fine bird, for I shall not have to hurry. She cannot get away."

Every time Madam Duck flapped her wings she made a wider space between her and Mr. Fox, but she was careful every time to let one wing drag as she limped along.

"I am sure to get her," he thought. "so why run? It is a very warm day and, besides that, the hunter may be lurking about."

But when Madam Duck reached the river bank she seemed to be able to use her wings and legs without any trouble, and before Mr. Fox knew it she was at the water's edge.

"I am not going into that water after her," thought he. "I will grab her right off and end it."

Mr. Fox leaped for Madam Duck, but his front feet caught in a trailing vine, and down the bank he went heels over head and landed in the deep mud of the river.

He struck nose first, and while he was trying to get up Madam Duck sailed gayly away, calling back to him as she went:

Oh, Reynard thought he had me—
He thought I could not fly.
But that's the time I fooled you, sir—
Good-by, Mr. Fox, good-by!

Reddy Fox crawled up the bank a sadder but a much wiser fellow, his mouth and nose filled with mud, and as he cleaned his coat and made himself tidy he thought:

"Sing your good-by song, Madam Duck, while you can, for if I ever meet you again it will be the 'Swan Song' you will sing—I promise you that."

But Madam Duck knew better than to go to the field again, and I expect she lived to a good old age, in spite of Mr. Fox's threat.

LOCK OF GRAT MAN'S HAIR

Old Watch Has Long Held Interesting Relic of the Mighty Emperor Napoleon.

A new Napoleon souvenir has just come to light at Viareggio, Italy, now a fashionable seaside resort not far from Naples, and its history is interesting. A short time after her brother's death at Longwood, St. Helena, Princess Pauline, favorite sister of Napoleon I, sent a souvenir of the great warrior and emperor to one of her intimate friends, Professor Pacini, a musician, who wrote the musical work "Sapho." But she sent it in a gold watch carefully pressed between the watch's outer and inner covers, explains a writer in the New York World. As the hair was so well hidden from view the princess wrote to the musician telling him of the treasure that was inside.

The letter, still preserved by his granddaughter, Francesca Franchi, born Pacini, is a long one, and for some reason or other the family, like the original recipient of the gift, never bothered about the words, "The lock of my dear brother's hair is between the two covers of the watch," and only treasured the watch and the letter because both came from Princess Pauline. So, great was Signora Franchi's surprise when, on taking the watch to the watchmaker, she discovered a glossy lock of hair between the two covers. The letter from Pauline was carefully reread and the words telling of the lock of hair now become the most important part of it, giving proof that the hair is a hitherto undiscovered relic of Napoleon.

Several others have been made for the relic and the letter which explains it, but Signora Franchi says she will not part with it except the Italian government buys it for one of the national museums.

DISDAINED KNIFE AND FORK

"Swell!" Fooled Both Men Who Made Bets as to His Manner of Eating Breakfast.

Tex Rickard said to a group of correspondents the other day:

"It isn't only scrappers that make bad mistakes in etiquette. I was eating breakfast in one of the swell New York restaurants one morning when a fat man came in.

"He's one of the biggest swells in the town," says my friend. "Watch him."

"The fat man—he was dressed like a prince—ordered two portions of ham and eggs, two of country sausage, two of buckwheat cakes and maple sirup, and, along with all that, mush and milk, lamb chops, liver and bacon, fried potatoes, oatmeal and corned beef hash.

"All these things were brought to him together, and he dumped them into a big soup dish and proceeded to cut them up and mix them round well.

"Hanged if that ain't the worst sight I've ever seen," I said to my friend. "I'll bet you three to one, George, he eats it with his knife."

"No, no," says George. "He's a big swell, I tell you. I bet he eats it with his fork."

Mr. Rickard shook his head gloomily.

"We both lost," he said. "He ate it with a ladle."

Mouse Wore Diamond.

Some women may be afraid of some mice, but when a mouse gets civilized and swaggers enough to run around wearing diamonds—well, the heroine of this story tells it, and responsibility begins and ends with her.

Miss Genevieve Allen of New York, head of the abandonment bureau of District Attorney Swan's office, returned from a vacation in Maine to find a mouse cavorting on the floor of her office with a diamond gleaming from its tail.

Miss Allen realizing, perhaps, that she could never get away with the story without something resembling proof, caught that mouse. Whether she did it with gas, hypnosis or a depth bomb may never be known, but she got close enough to extract a diamond earring from the mouse's tail though she let the mouse get away without attempting to arrest it for burglary. The earring was turned over to Acting District Attorney Banton.

Rooster Refused to Crow.

On the ground that the crowing of the rooster in her poultry run prevented school children learning their lessons, a Potsdam woman appeared before the local judge charged with being a public nuisance. The woman having declared the rooster was old and hoarse, and that therefore his crow could not be a source of disturbance to the school children, the judge adjourned the case to enable the bird to appear.

The rooster, however, which came to the court in a capacity resembling that of a co-defendant, refused to crow, and the judge, after making some remarks about the valuable loss of legal time thus occasioned, dismissed the case.—North China Herald.

A New Role for Baby.

Johnny—Mother, may I take out the perambulator? I want to play with it for a little while.

Mother—Well, Johnny, I should think you might ask to take baby, too.

Johnny—Oh, yes, he shall come; he'll make a splendid fireman. Billy Gubbins has his mother's clothesline, the carriage will be the fire engine, and there'll be about twenty boys to pull.—The Scotsman.

AGE ALSO WILL BE SERVED

Youth Has Nothing Like a Leading Place in the Business World of Today.

Youth is lovely, a beautiful thing; but let not the youngsters grow too cocky.

The fact of Col. Washington A. Roebbing, eighty-four years old, being elected to the presidency of a big bridge company, has prompted B. C. Forbes, the financial writer, to investigate the truth of the saying that America is a young man's country. It isn't so, he says, according to the Philadelphia Evening Ledger. Big men, he declares, do their best work after they are fifty.

B. H. Gary was past fifty when he took hold of the big job with the United States Steel corporation that he has held for more than twenty years.

Not one important railroad president in the country is less than forty; hardly any less than fifty. Samuel Rea was fifty-eight when he took hold of his present job with the Pennsylvania. Truesdale of the Lackawanna is seventy; Elliott of the Northern Pacific, sixty-one; Lovett of the Harriman lines, sixty-one; Smith of the New York Central, fifty-eight; Willard of the Baltimore & Ohio, sixty.

One of the most powerful bankers in the country, George F. Baker, is in his eighty-second year! Another, A. Barton Hepburn, is seventy-eight.

Though Charles M. Schwab, Henry P. Davidson and Frank A. Vanderlip won fame early (that is, before forty), their greatest work has been done when they could not possibly be classed as chickens.

All of which seems to show that fame, after all, is no cradle snatcher or chicken stealer.

Let the cockeries crow as they may, the wise old roosters still appear to dominate the heap.

PORTABLE HOUSES TO FRANCE

American Lumber Company's Practical Aid to the People of War-Devastated Districts.

Thirty-one hundred portable houses are being sent to northern France and Belgium by one American lumber company; the first shipment left Baltimore on the New Britain recently, says the Christian Science Monitor. The size of the contract is better understood when one realizes that the cost of transporting the $15,000,000 worth of houses, each weighing from forty to sixty tons, will be $4,000,000. Together with the other contracts which preceded and which will follow, this means the transformation of many square miles of landscape, a second transformation since the summer of 1914. Among the ruins of stone cottages many centuries old, wherever a stretch of level ground has been cleared between cellar and shell holes, new, brightly painted frame houses are springing up overnight.

The effect on the peasant of this great change in housing, a leap from the middle ages to the latest development in the quick and cheap, will doubtless be varied. Many doors and many windows will make a difference, and so will walls which are anything but soundproof. But most important will be the question which will come to him as he gazes on his American-made dwelling:

"My house has traveled. Why not I?"

Doughty Pickax Passes.

In the hands of lazy laborers the pickax becomes the irritation, despair or agent of humor of the average observant man. Symbol of toil, properly speaking, shirkers have turned it into mockery of labor because of the carefully calculated leisure with which they swung it. By their methods these ca'canny clock watchers changed the pickax into a visible sign of leisure.

But without knowing it these leisurely pickax wielders were working a change of great importance. They were attracting the attention of men whose business it is in life to see that work is done promptly, efficiently and economically. From these men has come the air hammer or air pick. In its street work a New York company has used one of these new implements with a gasoline engine and air compressors mounted on a large motortruck behind it. Where 15 men were hired to do the street job three are enough to do the work with this instrument.—New York Herald.

To Preserve Famous Trees.

The National Geographic society recently presented the United States government with the title to the last 640 acres of land which complete the "big tree" stands forming Sequoia national park. The park, established to preserve the most massive trees in the world from being converted into lumber, totals 1,916 acres. It was purchased in three sections, during 1916, 1920 and 1921, for a total of $146,350, only $50,000 of which was contributed by the government. The remainder was contributed by the members of the National Geographic society, their friends, and by a tax levy of Tulare county, California.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

His Camping Trip.

"I suppose you enjoyed some wonderfully quiet nights while on your camping trip."

"Quiet nothing!" snorted the tired business man. "Between the chirping of the chickens and the ukulele solos of a party of college boys in the next camp I never closed an eye!"

SECRET ORDERS ANCIENT

Present Vogue of Emblems, It Can Be Proved, Is More Than 5,000 Years Old.

"Do you notice what an increase there has been in the wearing of emblem and fraternity pins, these days?" asked Jones.

"I suppose you think that is just an up-to-date fad, don't you?" returned his friend of antiquarian bent. "Well, let me tell you, it is not. Watch charms were invented at least five thousand years before watches, and fraternity badges equally long ago.

"The very same symbols which the 'Joiners' are wearing in their lapels and on their folds today are survivals of forms which were in popular use for the same purpose when Nebuchadnezzar was a kid in school. You see, it was like this: In the days when kings could seldom write their own names and their subjects attributed every natural phenomenon to one of their multifarious gods or devils, there were always a few, at least, who knew some of the truth.

"Glimmerings of a true science were beginning to dawn on mankind, but humanity was too close to barbarism for such a thing as a law of nature to be understood. When it was perceived that certain laws did exist they were set down to the will and desire of one or another divinity, and when taught to a selected few were hedged about with all sorts of obligations not to reveal the secrets of the gods to the 'profane'—a word which originally meant 'outside the temple.' Architecture, geometry, arithmetic, music, astronomy, the alphabet and the decimal system were once called 'mysteries,' and the process of solemnly scaring the prospective student nearly if not quite to death as a warning to silence before letting him in on the secrets was the preliminary to all education. And each order has its symbol, or pin."

PIGS AS FORM OF CURRENCY

Centuries Ago the Animals Were Generally Accepted in England in Payment of Rent.

Quaint though they seem, the rents, customs and services paid to the prince of Wales at Llanecston were once common enough all over England, and it would be easy to show many parallels for Lancashire and Cheshire. In the fourteenth century in Cheshire rent in kind was often paid in sparrowhawks, barbed arrowheads, pepper, gloves and especially in pigs.

Arrowheads would be useful, but a large rent roll of the other things might be inconvenient. They were, therefore, sold, and the relative values are interesting. The sparrowhawks were worth about 25 cents, the gloves two cents a pair and the pepper about 20 cents a pound. Pigs, of course, vary in size and weight and must have given rise to controversies between bailiffs and tenants. Some approach to a standard size was doubtless obtained, and the pigs are usually described as "reasonable" or "customary" pigs. Even so, the price the bailiff obtained varied greatly, some selling for 35 cents each and some for 90 cents. Pigs were paid not only by poor tenants for their tiny holdings, but also by families as rich and powerful as the Grosvenors.—Manchester Guardian.

Find Fine Kaolin Deposits.

As a result of investigations concerning the extent of the kaolin deposits in Puolanka, Finland, that have been made this summer, it has been found that there are actually at least 10,000 tons of it there and an estimated probability of more than 500,000 tons. Kaolin has also been found in four different places in Pihlajavaara. The deposits are four to six meters deep, reports Consul Leslie A. Davis from Helsingfors, but in some cases the stratification is over ten meters deep. It has been noticed that the deeper deposits supply the better kaolin. According to German experts, the Finnish deposits of kaolin, which is the clay used in the making of fine chinaware, are of excellent quality. The material is clearer and better than that found elsewhere in Europe, and the china made from it is entirely white.

Mr. and Mrs. Quay Beyer are in New York city for three weeks.

HAY FEVERITES MADE TOWN

Chance Discovery Had Great Effect on the Building Up of Petoskey, Mich.

A most unwelcome visitor is hay fever. With its advent a vast army of hay feverites move northward; some to the Maine woods, some to Mackinac Island and points farther north, and many to Petoskey, Mich., or its immediate vicinity, which seems to be a most popular camping ground for sufferers from the "hay."

We met a real old lady there a few summers ago, who told us that she believed she was the first person to discover that the Petoskey atmosphere had a curative effect on hay fever; she was a sufferer with that disease herself and more than fifty years ago, she said, she and her husband were en route by boat from Chicago to a point much farther north when they were driven by a violent storm into the bay at Petoskey, where they remained for two or three days, during which time she noticed that she was entirely free from hay fever. At that time the medical profession was giving hay fever an extensive study, so when this lady and her husband returned to Chicago they related their experience and suggested that as Petoskey was so accessible to Chicago, the hay feverites form a colony and try out the place the next summer, which they did. They found Petoskey a straggling Indian village, with positively no accommodations for visitors, but as time went on and people continued to go there each year for hay fever, it gradually grew into a flourishing up-to-date town with several thousand inhabitants.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Harassing Wheat Pests.

Plant pests cause the loss of millions of bushels of wheat in the United States, and if all the wheat now destroyed annually by these pests could be saved and made into flour the United States Department of Agriculture says it would add approximately 29,483,700 barrels to the yearly output of the nation. The annual production of wheat in this country for the four-year period 1916 to 1919, inclusive, was 783,849,500 bushels. The annual loss from disease during this period was 147,318,600 bushels. While it is not possible entirely to eliminate wheat disease, it is possible to much reduce the toll. One branch of investigation in the bureau of plant industry is to work out the preventive measures for the diseases of all cereal crops.

Mr. Dibble, of Detroit, spent from Friday night until Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Willis Derbyshire.
